Making a Difference in Wisconsin

President Bush's 2006 Budget Proposal Increases Federal Education Funding for Wisconsin to More Than $1.8 Billion — 45% above 2001 levels.

President Bush's 2006 Budget Proposal Increases Federal Education Funding for Wisconsin to $33.5 Million in Reading First Grants to help schools and districts improve children's reading.

Wisconsin has received $33.5 Million in Reading First Grants to help schools and districts improve children's reading.

Wisconsin is set to receive approximately $17.2 Million in Reading First Funds.

The percentage of Madison public school third graders reading at or above the state's lowest proficiency level has shrunk 2 years, Wisconsin is set to receive approximately $17.2 Million in Reading First Funds.

The percentage of Madison public school third graders reading at or above the state's lowest proficiency level has shrunk 2 years.

President Bush's 2006 Budget Proposal increases Special Education State Grant funding for Wisconsin to $200.5 Million — 20% above 2001 levels.

President Bush's 2006 Budget Proposal increases Special Education State Grant funding for Wisconsin to more than $200.5 Million — 20% above 2001 levels.

President Bush's 2006 Budget Proposal increases Special Education State Grant funding for Wisconsin to more than $200.5 Million — 20% above 2001 levels.

Yet, while the President took office

President Bush's 2006 Budget Proposal increases Special Education State Grant funding for Wisconsin to more than $200.5 Million — 20% above 2001 levels.

President Bush's 2006 Budget Proposal increases Special Education StateGrant funding for Wisconsin to more than $200.5 Million — 20% above 2001 levels.

President Bush's 2006 Budget Proposal increases Special Education State Grant funding for Wisconsin to more than $200.5 Million — 20% above 2001 levels.

President Bush's 2006 Budget Proposal increases Special Education State Grant funding for Wisconsin to more than $200.5 Million — 20% above 2001 levels.

President Bush's 2006 Budget Proposal increases Special Education State Grant funding for Wisconsin to more than $200.5 Million — 20% above 2001 levels.

President Bush's 2006 Budget Proposal increases Special Education State Grant funding for Wisconsin to more than $200.5 Million — 20% above 2001 levels.

President Bush's 2006 Budget Proposal increases Special Education State Grant funding for Wisconsin to more than $200.5 Million — 20% above 2001 levels.

President Bush's 2006 Budget Proposal increases Special Education State Grant funding for Wisconsin to more than $200.5 Million — 20% above 2001 levels.

President Bush's 2006 Budget Proposal increases Special Education State Grant funding for Wisconsin to more than $200.5 Million — 20% above 2001 levels.

President Bush's 2006 Budget Proposal increases Special Education State Grant funding for Wisconsin to more than $200.5 Million — 20% above 2001 levels.

President Bush's 2006 Budget Proposal increases Special Education State Grant funding for Wisconsin to more than $200.5 Million — 20% above 2001 levels.

President Bush's 2006 Budget Proposal increases Special Education State Grant funding for Wisconsin to more than $200.5 Million — 20% above 2001 levels.